MRS. ANNA MUENNINK HELMKE.

Mrs. Anna Helmke, nee Muennink, was born December 8, 1869, at New Mountain, in Medina county, Texas, and died at 8 p. m., March 20, 1922, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Schluentz, at Hondo, Texas, at the age of 52 years, 3 months and 12 days.

The deceased was married to Mr. Fritz Helmke May 1, 1891. This union was blessed with 4 sons and 1 daughter, of whom 2 sons and 1 daughter preceded her into eternity. She lived with her husband and children on the Hondo, near New Foundation.

For about 19 years she suffered with an open leg. This became more severe from year to year and caused her much anxiety and pain but she suffered patiently and without complaint. Her suffering became more severe recently and finally there was evidence of diabetes.

Mrs. Helmke was a good, patient, loving Christian mother and wife, devoted and true. She was ready to depart and knew that her end was approaching as she spoke of it several times to her loved ones.

She leaves her husband, 2 sons, 5 daughters, 5 grandchildren, 3 brothers, 3 sisters, many other relatives and a host of friends who loved and respected her.

Her soul is with her Lord, whom she trusted and there we shall meet again.

Her earthly remains were laid to rest in the Oakwood Cemetery at Hondo on March 22, 1922, at 2 p. m. The following ministers officiated at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Schluentz and at the grave: Revs. F. Foerster, pastor of Methodist church at New Mountain, Geo. G. Smith, pastor of Hondo Methodist church, W. F. Buss, pastor Rieden Memorial Methodist church, San Antonio, G. W. Muennink, brother of the deceased, and W. Radetzky, pastor Yancey Methodist church.

Beautiful floral offerings covered the grave.

May God richly bless and comfort the bereaved.

A Friend.

DAVIS—MASTER MAGICIAN

You'll discover when you go to see and hear Davis, Master Magician, that the old saying that there is nothing new in magic is not true. Davis is the exception that proves the rule.

What Davis does is Wizardly and his manner of doing it is Artistry.

There is one strange thing after another and fun all the time. You'll laugh at his wit and humor as well as at this wonderful magic feats.

You'll want to watch him closely for just when you think he has finished a feat of magic—and it would be the best with the average magician—he is getting to the interesting part; in fact, nearly all his tricks have three points to them instead of one.

Davis performs twice as many feats as the average magician—there is no delay with useless "patter" and his talk is as interesting as what he does. With a splendid stage setting, lots of paraphernalia, an excellent assistant, the entertainment runs smoothly and without waits. You'll say that he is the cleverest magician you have ever seen.

District Secretary Coming.

Mr. Frank Smith, district secretary for Uvalde district, will be with the Senior Epworth League Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and we urge a full attendance of the members and others interested in young people's work.

Mr. Smith is a young man, a live wire, and he thoroughly understands the needs of the League, so his lecture will be an inspiration to all who hear it. The Leaguers have arranged a good musical program for the occasion. You can't afford to miss

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

The Chautauqua has been here—and gone. For three days, afternoon and night, the people of Hondo who were fortunate enough to attend have been treated to "a feast of reason and a flow of soul," that can but leave our community the better therefore.

The lectures were instructive and inspiring, just such as the tired business man needed to take his thoughts from the narrowing confines of his own little circuit an help him to visualize the greater things of life, the greater world of which he and his activities are but a small though, albeit, an essential part. The music was the best that talent could interpret and brought to music lovers a vision and taste of the happiest realizations of the composer's art. While the dramatics and amusement features were clean and wholesome, proving that there are wholesome sources of laughter and mirth, that one needs not to be lewd and vulgar to be merry and gay.

The Chautauqua brought to our people wholesome instruction, clean amusement and a forward look. There are but three things to regret about it. One is that there could not be more of it. Another is that, being no more of it than there was, it could not be spread out over more time, that it were necessary to take it all at one time and there could not be more time to assimilate and enjoy it. The other is that every individual in the community, regardless of wealth or station, age or condition, could not share its pleasures.

This is the second appearance in Hondo of Radcliffe's Chautauqua. Last year it was a financial failure, and a number of our citizens had to go down into their pockets and make good the deficit. This year, we understand, thanks to the earnest work of the ladies of the Parent-Teacher Association, it will about "break even."

Realizing the value of such class of entertainment, however, some sixty or more of our people signed the contract for its return next season.

Next time ask for REDSKIN TUBES.

THE ERNEST HOME BURNS.

The blowing of the siren at the light plant about 3 o'clock last Saturday afternoon called the fire department and a multitude of other people to the home of Mrs. J. M. Ernest in the northeast part of town. The first to arrive immediately saw that the house was doomed and devoted their energies to saving the household goods, in which effort they were successful, everything save a cook stove being carried to places of safety. From the best information available it seems that a hole had resulted in the flue from a storm some time ago. This flue had been out of use and tow sacks had been placed in the hole to keep out the cold and rain. The flue was again put in use, the damage not being known of, or else forgotten by Mrs. Ernest. The rags caught fire from the fire in the stove below, and spread between the ceiling and roof. A considerable wind was blowing at the time and sparks and parts of shingles from the burning building were carried in every direction and the fire fighters were kept busy in saving adjacent property. Despite their efforts several other buildings were ignited, among them being the home of Mr. M. A. Chancey, two holes being burned in his roof, but heroic effort kept all the other houses from destruction. The house destroyed was built by Mr. J. J. Dodson, well known to all the residents of Hondo, and was a building of considerable proportion, and while it was an old house, good attention had kept it a comfortable home, and it was probably worth between $2500 and $3000. No insurance was carried and we are not advised as to whether or not it will be rebuilt.

ROBERTS-HUDSPETH.

Last Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, Mr. William Boyd Roberts and Miss Irene Hudspeth were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, among a few friends and relatives. Rev. Geo. G. Smith officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony.

Just prior to the entrance of the bride and groom Mrs. Roland Gaines and Miss Corena Locke sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Miss Nettie Mae Newton, who also rendered the wedding march.

The bride was becomingly attired in a navy blue coat suit with grey accessories. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas and sweet heart roses, which she threw from the car as they were leaving and was caught by Miss Givens of San Antonio.

After a short honeymoon they will be at home in Temple, where the groom is plant manager of the Texas Typefoundry.

Those present were Judge and Mrs. Lamm, Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Cockrell, Roland Gaines, George Carle, Clarence Van Fleet, and Mrs. Geo. Smith; Messrs. Garland Martin, Olin Lacy, Earl Lacy; Misses Corena Locke, Maggie Cameron, Nettie Mae Newton, Pearl Walker, Panchita Gilliam, Annie and Gertrude Reilly and Nettie Fly. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Crain, Miss Jennie Mae Dowdy, Miss Ruby Givens, Mr. Moody of San Antonio, and Mr. and Mrs. John Roop of Temple.

APPRECIATION.

By this means I wish to express my sincere thanks to all those who so successfully combatted the fire that threatened the destruction of my home last Saturday afternoon. I wish to assure everyone that their timely assistance will ever be held in grateful remembrance.

Yours truly,

M. A. Chancey.

AN OLD LANDMARK RAZED.

The old two-story frame building south of the depot, erected for a hotel in the earlier days of Hondo but used for various purposes for the last twenty-five years, has been torn down and the debris removed.

A striking feature of the clearing away of this old landmark, which had been erected on the level prairie, is that where the building stood there is now a considerable depression that must become a veritable pond should it ever again rain in these parts.

This depression was not caused by the sinking of the land, as might be supposed, but has been caused by the filling up of the street and other property around it. Now the editor is not an engineer or the son of one, but this emphasizes the truthfulness of what this paper has contended for the past twenty years—that what our streets need is drainage and not filling up. To be sure it is easier and cheaper to fill up a mud hole—after the rains that sometimes come—by dumping a few loads of clay or gravel into the mud hole than it is to drain it. But when this is done on a practically level street, without an outlet for the drainage being prepared, the mud hole is simply transferred to some other spot. In the instance here being referred to persistent filling in the neighborhood had transferred it from the adjacent ground to that beneath the building, with the consequent decay of the building's foundation and the rendering unsanitary of the premises.

Every wagon load of filler dumped on the level streets of our town calls for several loads on the adjacent property if it is to be avoided making our yards sinkholes for the town's drainage. Property owners who have not observed or thought of this should begin to take notice.

Both party leaders, Senator Lodge and Senator Underwood say that the United States should insist on the payment of a bill of $241,000,000 for keeping the American troops in Germany. Also, they are urging the appointment of an American representative on the Allied Reparation Commission, for both senators think that the Allies are attempting to oppose the payment of the bill.

MILK GOATS

OTTO WELTNER in Bandera New Era.

A number of the citizens of Bandera county are turning their attention to milk goats, and we foresee the development of a great industry along these lines. As we are ignorant of the merits of the milk goat, as compared to the common goat, we asked Mr. Otto Weltner, a breeder of the Toggenburgs, to give us an article along this line for this edition. His letter follows:

Camp Verde, Texas.
Editor New Era,

Dear Sir:—In reply to your request that I write something about Duroc-Jersey hogs and milk goats for your illustrated issue will say that the Duroc breed has made such a record by its size and weight, its litters which run all the way from eight to twenty-four, that it is undoubtedly the most popular breed west of the Mississippi today and can only add that I find they do extra well in Bandera county.

Relative to milk goats there is much that might be told, for this interesting little ruminant has a mission to fill that cannot be filled by any other known domestic animal. A strong prejudice exists against the milk goat in our country but is steadily abating as "Nanny" proves her worth to infant and invalid.

There are several flocks in Bandera county and I believe they thrive as well here in the Alps of Texas as they do in their original home—the Swiss Alps.

The questions most frequently asked about milk goats are:

1. How much milk do they give?

other lands. For instance, France had 1,500,000 milk goats; Spain 3,000,000; Argentina 4,000,000; Brazil 10,000,000; India 30,000,000, while Switzerland, Germany, Austria, and the Balkans all have bred large numbers. Density of population and other handicaps under which most of the countries above named labor naturally has given the milk goats their important position there. Our superior standing, has to a large extent, been responsible for the slow growth of the milk-goat industry here. But, if for no other reasons, the milk goat has earned a place in our sun for its value to babies and invalids and for this reason I devote most of this space to this phase of the industry. Let me quote from the Journal of the American Association: "The goat is the healthiest domestic animal in the world. It is immune from tuberculosis. Goats' milk is superior in every way to that of the cow, being nearly twice as rich in butter fat which does not readily separate from the milk unless heated. Goats' milk is the ideal food for babies, convalescents and invalids, especially for those with weakened digestive powers. Goats' milk is the purest, most healthful and most complete human food that is known."

Like the Angora, the milk goat thrives on all kinds of weeds, shrubs, leaves, etc. Many people so situated that the keeping of a milk cow is impossible could keep a milk goat. The trimmings from rose bushes and trees are relished by them and a small lawn will keep one fat. They respond

2. Which is the best breed?
3. Can butter be made from their milk?

4. What does a milk goat cost?
Briefly I will endeavor to answer:

1. From two to seven quarts a day.
2. There are three popular breeds in this country—Toggenburg, Saanen, and Anglo-Nubian. The best breed is the one you fancy most. Each breed has its merits and demerits as have the different breeds of cows.

3. Butter can be made from the milk, but as the cream does not separate as readily from the milk as does the product from the cow, best results are obtained by the use of a separator. The butter is white and coloring adds greatly to its appearance.

4. This is a hard question to answer as the price varies greatly. Grade goats bring from $25.00 to $75.00. Registered goats from $50.00 to as high as $1,000.00 and often more.

quickly to kind treatment. When their milk is used for infants I find that the best way is to keep the goat staked near by and milked each time that the child requires food. It may not be daddy's conception of Paradise to crawl out during the wee hours of the night to milk a nanny goat, but when he sees the change in the condition of his new namesake, or as a fellow in Bandera puts it, "My new $400.00 exemption from the income tax," he will feel well repaid. The milk must always be diluted for infants.

In concluding I hope that what I have said about goat's milk will not be construed to mean that it is preferable to mother's milk. Far from it. Only when mother's milk fails to agree with the child, which so frequently is the case, should resort to goat's milk, and right there you may as well prepare to divorce yourself from prejudice, for it will vanish.

Otto Weltner's Toggenburg Milk Goats.
(Courtesy Bandera New Era)

Much depends on their milking qualities and pedigree.

One wonders why we are so slow to recognize the value of the goat since it has been intimately connected with man throughout civilization. Chaldean astronomers traced the sun's path through the heavens and gave us the twelve signs of the Zodiac, in which the tenth month was the month of the goat. We have today probably not more than four thousand full blood milk goats in the United States while the last figures available to me and which were given just prior to the World War, will show how important this industry is in

A Hand On Your Shoulder.

When a man ain't got a cent,
And he's feeling kind of blue,
And the clouds bank dark and heavy;
An' won't let the sunshine through;
It's a great thing, O, my brethren,
Fer a feller just to lay
His hand upon your shoulder
In a friendly sort of way.

It makes a man feel curious,
It makes the tear drops start,
An' you sorta feel a flutter
In the region of your heart!
You can look up and meet his eyes;
You don't know what to say
When his hand is on your shoulder
In a friendly sort of way.

Oh, the world's a curious compound
With its honey and its gall,
With its cares and bitter crosses—
But a good world after all.
And a good God must have made it—
Leastwise, that is what I say
When a hand is on your shoulder
In a friendly sort of way!

—James Whitcomb Riley.

As this is written (Wednesday morning) the Chautauqua is with us in Hondo. The Chautauqua is of comparatively recent origin, but it has already become a permanent fixture in the community life of the American small town. And therein is one of the most hopeful promises for the future. As population grows denser in this country and as means of transportation and communication improve, the American people will become more and more a nation of village dwellers. Anything that touches the mass of this community life with wholesome, uplifting influences is deserving of encouragement. That is what the Chautauqua does. It brings to many individuals who would otherwise be shut out of its influence the inspiration and the stimulus of its intellectual feast of lectures; it brings to the music lover the best that can be had of the composer's art; and to the one made tired by the more serious things of life it brings just enough laughter, just enough of the frivolous, without any of the suggestive or the salacious, to soothe his troubled cares away. It gives to all a new perspective of our true relation as individuals to the whole, both in community life and governmental affairs, and cements us in a closer bond of fellowship. God-speed to the Chautauqua spirit! May it remain true to its spirit of uplift. May it avoid the blight of commercialism.

IS YOUR HEALTH GRADUALLY SLIPPING?

Interesting Experience of a Texas Lady Who Declares That if More Women Knew About Cardui They Would Be Spared Much Sickness and Worry.

Navasota, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so lifeless I could hardly go at all.

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shelf. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish.

"I was . . . nervous and easily upset.

I couldn't rest well at night and was . . . just lifeless.

"I heard of Cardui and after reading I decided I had some female trouble that was pulling me down. I sent for Cardui and began it . . .

"In a very short while after I began the Cardui Home Treatment I saw an improvement and it wasn't long until I was all right—good appetite, splendid rest, and much stronger so that I easily did my house work.

"Later I took a bottle of Cardui as a tonic. I can recommend Cardui and gladly do so, for if more women knew, it would save a great deal of worry and sickness."

The enthusiastic praise of thousands of other women who have found Cardui helpful should convince you that it is worth trying. All druggists sell it.

URGENT NEED FOR EQUAL AND UNIFORM TAXATION.
Nothing should prove more conclusively the irregularities practiced by the underpaying counties than the record itself, which discloses the fact that the hereinafter named counties have unquestionably disregarded the law of righteousness in the most flagrant manner.
Hopkins county paid into the available school fund, from the ad-valorem tax, the sum of $40,460.00, plus $4,617.00 rural aid, and received back from the said fund $94,000.00, plus $23,610.00 rural aid, or a net amount of $72,433.00 received back, over and above the amount paid in. In addition thereto, the said county received $9,995.00 on account of scholastics in excess of the state average.
Van Zandt county paid into the treasury from the school ad valorem the sum of $42,592.00, plus $4,861.00 rural aid, and received back through the apportionment from the ad valorem tax the sum of $90,592.00, plus $28,316.00 rural aid, or a total of $70,903.00 received back over and above the amount paid in.
Hunt county paid into the available school fund the sum of $100,000.00 plus $11,414.00 and received back from the source of income the sum of $136,000.00 plus $25,428.00 rural aid, or a total of $50,014.00 received back over and above the amount paid in.
Fannin county paid into the available school fund from ad valorem the sum of $90,037.00 plus $10,275.00 rural aid and received back through apportionment from ad valorem tax the sum of $137,000.00 plus $22,000.00 rural aid, or $58,688.00 received back over and above the amount paid in.
The above counties are immensely rich agriculture counties and have thirteen million acres in cultivation and approximately eleven million dollars worth of farm buildings.
Medina county paid into the available school fund from the ad valorem tax the sum of $48,024.00 plus $6,577.00 rural aid and received back from the State through apportionment from the ad valorem tax the sum of $31,530.00 plus $550.00 rural aid, or a net amount of $22,521.00 paid in over and above the amount received back.
Were taxes levied equally and uniformly in all sections of the state, as required by our Constitution, such unjust distribution of our tax burdens could not occur. They will, however, continue to occur so long as some counties are permitted to assess taxable properties at 15 per cent of actual values, while other counties, by reason of more rapid county development, are forced to assess at 30 and 40 per cent of actual value. What Texas needs, and that which all tax payers should demand, is a State Tax Commission, or proper authority vested in the State Tax Commissioner to supervise and control the assessments for purposes of State taxation, uniform throughout the State. There is no need of rendition at full value, but there does exist an urgent need of uniformity in the assessments of the several counties of the State to the end that they may be within reason, upon the same basis. The present unrighteous system functions in a discriminating manner against the progressive counties and is unquestionably a penalization of county development.
Under the present method the available school fund loses annually not less than $4,000,000.00 from the 35c school ad valorem alone. Every citizen of Texas who stands for better schools and better government should make the greatest effort to correct the present wrong resulting from lack of system. Every good citizen, whether he lives in a county which is paying less or in a county which is paying more than its share of the State taxes, should insist that the Representative from his district give adequate attention to the solution of this vital question.

Manager Campaign for Equal and Uniform Taxation.

That Dull Aching
Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and aching backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor!
F. H. Bohlen, proprietor of a repair shop, Hondo, says: "I always use Doan's Kidney Pills when my back bothers me and they never fail to help me. My back ached and I had a dull pain in my kidneys. I was often dizzy and black specks appeared before my eyes. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were highly colored and burned in passage. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured the attack. My back is now as strong as iron and my kidneys act regularly. I think the world of Doan's Kidney Pills."

THE HIGHEST IN RANK.
From The Huajillo Leaf.
If any of us were asked how high we ranked in society, the business world or anything else, we would not know how to answer. We rank as high as we can make ourselves. If we lived in India, where the caste system is practiced, or had we lived in the European countries in past centuries when there were class distinctions, this would not be true, but as we are living in our free country, this is true. A person is what he makes himself.
And it is by what we do that we make ourselves. If we idle away our time, not caring whether or not we do what we should, or how well we do anything, we cannot ever amount to very much. We might think that we are a very important person, but our thoughts or boasts do not help us any. It is what others think and say about us that counts. It is our place then, to be very careful what we give others a chance to think about us. We do not have to do something great to be "somebody." All we have to do is to perform our duty in the every-day things, and to do well the things that we do. Probably later the opportunity to do great things will come, but if we have not done our best with the little things we will not be ready for the opportunity. Therefore, it pays to do our best at everything, no matter how small it may seem.

COWLESS, SOWLESS, HENLESS FARM.

By JOHN FIELDS, Editor Oklahoma Farmer.

It is a fact that those who control land and credits largely determine what farmers do. Whatever is the matter with agriculture in the South today, responsibility for the most of it lies with the landowners, bankers and credit merchants of the South.

A study of reports of conventions and conferences to consider the state of Southern Agriculture leads to the conclusion that, hitherto, they have been long on oratory and short on operation. The end to be sought was never better expressed than by Henry W. Grady, when he said:

"When every farmer in the South could eat bread from his own fields and meat from his own pastures and, disturbed by no creditor, and enslaved by no debt, shall sit amid his teeming gardens and orchards and vineyards and daries and barnyards, watching his crops in his own wisdom and growing them in independence, making cotton his clean surplus and selling it in his own time and in his chosen market and not at a master's bidding—getting his pay in cash and not in a receipted mortgage that discharges his debt but does not restore his freedom—then shall be the breaking of the fulness of our day."

Those sentiments so beautifully expressed are always applauded wherever quoted—applauded and that is all.

Dr. Seaman A. Knapp started the agricultural demonstration work in the South and laid the foundation for the agricultural rejuvenation. Among his Ten Commandments of Agriculture are these:

"Increase the farm stock to the extent of utilizing all the waste products and the lands of the farm."

"Produce all the food required for the men and animals on the farm."

On many occasions he reiterated, "One of the foundation principles of our work is that the farmer should make the food for the family and for the farm stock so that his principal cash crop may be all profit."

Those who have been carrying on the agricultural demonstration work in the South have failed to obtain the results for which Dr. Knapp hoped. That cotton farmers generally have not been influenced by the agricultural oratory and have not practiced these sound precepts is clearly shown by some recent reports of the Bureau of the Census. This table shows the number of farms in each 100 farms in the cotton states, which raised no calves and which raised no pigs in 1919:

	Pct. Calfless.	Pct. Pigless.
North Carolina	62.8	62.9
South Carolina	63.0	62.7
Georgia	56.4	57.6
Alabama	46.2	54.1
Mississippi	47.9	52.5
Louisiana	57.6	54.7
Texas	46.5	61.6
Arkansas	48.2	53.7
Tennessee	35.4	45.4
Oklahoma	35.3	56.3

Oratory has been ineffective. Demonstration has failed to do the job. The men who have controlled land and credit in the cotton state have to a large extent blocked the earnest work which county agents and home demonstration agents have been doing. Bankers and merchants have put up money for calf clubs, pig clubs, and poultry clubs because it has been fashionable—quite the thing—to do so. It gave them good standing in agricultural society. They sought to buy agricultural development and prosperity. Yet in their daily work of passing upon farmer's credits, these same bankers and merchants have continued putting emphasis on cotton—and numerous children to pick the cotton without pay.

John Burroughs wrote: "Where the cow is, there is Arcadia; so far as influence prevails, there is contentment, humility, and sweet homely life." All of us join in campaigns to induce city children to drink more milk, but we give no thought to the fact that more than one-third of the children living on the cotton farms of the South do not know what milk tastes like—they haven't tasted it since they were weaned. Instead of being sustained and strengthened by a drink of nutritious milk when weary with chopping or picking cotton, they are juiced up with a dose of coffee tonic and told to hop to it.

Here are the plain facts of the business:

If every farmer in the cotton states had, in 1920 and 1921, fed and milked one cow; bred and fed one sow and fattened and killed and cured the meat from her litter and made full use of what two dozen hens, assisted by a rooster, would have produced, things would be very different now.

If bankers and merchants had not extended credit for the production of cotton to any tenant farmer who did not have at least one cow, one sow, two dozen hens and a rooster, and rental contract under which the land-owner provided suitable shelter for livestock and permitted the production of feed on the share-crop basis, few landowners, cotton farmers, bankers and merchants would be in trouble now.

Having gotten into a variety of difficulties over financing cotton farmers upon what has proved as conclusively to be the reverse of a money-making basis, isn't it time to insist that they put their farming on a living-making basis before raising any cotton?

I am sure that the time to do this is now. You can't buy your way out of the present situation. You must work your way out. As a starter, when any farmer comes to you for credit and confesses that he hasn't a cow, a sow, and a flock of hens, you should register amazement, astonishment, surprise, apprehension, dismay, solicitude and consternation; get red in the face and pound the table at the very thought that any farmer who has neglected to supply himself with this minimum of livestock, should think that he can get from you credit from which to make a cotton crop.

Then calm down and talk it over with him and try to get him started as cheaply as possible, with livestock which may be purchased locally, impressing him with the fact that regular feeding and care are as important as breeding, in getting profitable returns. A cow, a sow, two dozen hens and a rooster, properly cared for will produce more food before next fall than their present cost will buy.

If you have customers or tenants who must be fed before they make a crop with which to pay interest on the old notes and accounts, you can't feed them more cheaply than by putting them in the way of feeding themselves with the products of the livestock which should be on every farm.

Farming should first of all be based on plans which make of it a living-making cinch instead of merely a money-making chance. Those who control credits can not escape responsibility for the disaster which inevitably comes for unsound farm practices.

THE BEST THINGS IN LIFE.

From The Huajillo Leaf.

"The best things in life are done up in the smallest packages" is a frequently used quotation. Yet we do not always realize its meaning. It is seldom that a person is satisfied with the smaller things of life. Always they look for larger things, and never do they stop and examine the small things to see if they are not worth while. Do not think that you should stop trying to obtain greater things when you have obtained enough to make you comfortable, but remember that there are some of the small things you already possess that are perhaps greater than those you wish for. Don't covet something a friend of yours possesses just because it is larger than yours, but just look at your own, and think that it can be just as good although not so large.

Probably we do not realize that the small things of life that are given us are the best, but why don't we try to realize it? Because we are always looking for something better. We are forever thinking our part of life is the hardest, since we possess only the smaller things, but we ought to remember that the best things may seem small. Too, the best things may not seem so great to us, but if we just take the time to examine them we would find that they are great. Therefore, let us not forget that the small packages contain the best things of life, and that we do not have to hunt for large packages to find our happiness.

Obedient Willie

The teacher wanted some plums in order to give an object lesson, and calling one of the small boys, she gave him ten cents and dispatched him to the fruit stand down on the corner.

"Before you buy the plums, Willie," she cautioned, "you had better pinch one or two to make sure they are ripe."

Little Willie flitted away. Soon he came back and smilingly put the bag on the teacher's desk.

"Oh, thank you, Willie," said the teacher, taking up the bag, "did you pinch one or two, as I told you to do?"

"Did I? I pinched the whole bag full, and here's your ten cents!"—Judge.

Friend (viewing picture): "How realistic! It fairly makes my mouth water."

Artist: "A sunset makes your mouth water?"

Friend: "Bless me! I thought it was a fried egg!"—Boston Transcript.

COURTESY AND MODESTY.

John D. Mell, In Baptist Standard.

The Old South has long since been dead, and only a faint memory of it now remains in the minds of men. There are among us just a few old men and women who lived in it, suffered for it, and still love it intensely. But they are fast passing on, and in a few years will all be gone, and then none will be left to revere it. The world would be infinitely better off, and life would be sweeter and happier, if some of the things that lived in the Old South would never die. It had many high and holy customs in the daily life of its children, but its chief glory was the gentle courtesy of its men, and the sweet modesty of its women.

Its men each day were gentlemen in the noblest sense, and its women each day were modest in the holiest sense. Reverence for sacred things, respect for age, polished urbanity of manner, sweetness of temper, and deep, abiding, pure homage for woman were the ineffaceable qualities of the minds and hearts of the men of those days. And the women, in the finest and holiest sense, were worthy of the men. They held in their characters, and deep in their souls, that sweet modesty which is the ineffable glory of the pure woman. The brazen look, the painted face, the indecent dress, were as impossible for the women of the Old South, as they are for the angels in heaven.

And they ought to be impossible among us today. Somebody ought to teach some of our young women about the finer and happier things of life they are missing. Immodesty in the woman will always attract the eyes of the man, as it always has, in all the history of the world, but it never has, and never will, attract his heart. The woman who is immodest places an impassable gulf between herself and the respect and affection of a real gentleman.

The finest and noblest quality in a true man lies dormant in his mind and heart, and can only be brought to life and activity by a modest woman. The highest and holiest usefulness and happiness of a true woman can never be obtained in this life or the life to come, unless she succeeds in awakening this thing that lies dormant in the man.

God has linked courtesy and modesty together, just as He has linked the destiny of the man and the woman together. When modesty dies courtesy dies also. When there are in this world no more modest women there will then be in this world no more gentlemen.

There ought to be preached in the pulpits and taught in the schools, and above all, lived in the homes, a revival of the old-fashioned courtesy and modesty of the Old South. If our boys are not to be courteous any more, and our girls not to be modest any more, then most of the hope and the happiness of life are gone.

Drops Into Old Well.

While backing into Howard & Sons building, with 5,000 pounds of material, Friday morning, the Sollock dropped to the axle, on perfect level and hard ground. On examination it was found to be an old well around the top with brick covered with cross ties from the right-of-way and forgotten. The well probably 80 feet deep, and will fill up. It was filled for about 10 feet at the top and was dangerous to the timbers had rotted.

Mr. Huffer is a candidate with good prospects, of succeeding Sena-chie Parr, for state senator of the district. It was a coincidence for us to have our old printers call on us in the morning. Mr. Huffer, like Mr. Cunningham, mentioned elsewhere, stuck in the old days for the News. He was always glad to hear of the boys, either in business or politics.

A. Littleton happened to a painful accident Sunday afternoon. While shutting off the wind, heavy weight fell from the top, hitting him on the head, cutting the heavily and knocking him unconscious. He was doing fairly well last heard from.

DR. BINGHAM TO THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Dr. G. M. Bingham, one of the Radcliffe Chautauqua lecturers, a man who has had much experience in Chamber of Commerce work, favored a few of the representatives of the local organization with an instructive and encouraging talk at the Chautauqua tent Thursday afternoon at the conclusion of the regular program.

Dr. Bingham said in part: "America is just beginning to rise from her period of depression and within the next 3 or 5 years will see the greatest prosperity of the time."

"The country that has the forward look will be the most successful. Periods like this come in their psychological way economically, and might well be considered under definite heads.

- "1. Periods of prosperity.
- "2. Periods of inefficiency.
- "3. Periods of Dishonesty and Crime.

"4. Periods of Lost Confidence and reduced prices.

"5. Thrift again.

"6. Better efficiency on account of lack of employment.

"7. Religious awakening.

"8. General prosperity.

"We are now in the middle stage and are beginning the upward climb. "We need hearty co-operation, men with vision and hope to build for a future.

"The business men and farmers must co-operate for better crops, better credits and better marketing of produce.

"All parts of a community life must learn to work hand in hand for the strength and good of all.

"A Chamber of Commerce means much to a community. It should have its regular meetings, luncheons etc., and definite work to do bearing on the future.

"The day of the individual business man is past, and co-operation means growth, means strength, bigger business, better service, for man is truly his brother's keeper in all lines of business.

FROM THE BANDERA NEW ERA.

Miss Berta Johnson enjoyed a trip to Hondo Saturday morning.

John Saathoff was over from Yancey this week on business. He was accompanied by his nephew, Mr. Bur- gin. Mr. Saathoff has been awarded the contract for carrying the mail from Bandera to Tarpley, and will take charge of the route July 1.

N. H. Rose, the photographer, left for San Antonio Sunday after a two months' stay in Bandera, making pictures for the New Era's big edition and also for the general public. Mr. Rose says he is coming again this summer, and those who failed to have their pictures taken will be given another opportunity to have high class photographic work done. We have known Mr. Rose, and chummed with him, for over thirty-five years, and we do not hesitate to recommend his work and his manner of dealing with the public anywhere he may go.

BRIDAL SHOWER.

An interesting social feature of the past week was a shower in honor of Miss Irene Hudspeth, a bride-elect of the season, by Misses Nettie Fly, Nettie Mae Newton and Mrs. Clarence Van Fleet at the home of Miss Nettie Fly last Friday afternoon.

The home was beautifully decorated in the colors, green and white. As the guests arrived each wrote a wish to the bride in the little hand-painted bride's book. The game of "Hearts" was the diversion of the afternoon and at the conclusion of the game dainty refreshments of pineapple sherbet and angel food cake were served.

Partners of "Hearts" were then called to an adjoining room, where, in the center, was a vine-covered, old fashioned well, which held many beautiful and appropriate gifts for the bride. The guests for the afternoon, besides the honoree, Miss Irene Hudspeth, were Misses Corena Locke, Maggie Cameron, Nettie Mae Newton, Eunice Hinds, Willie Fly, Walker, Annie Reily, Gertrude Reily, Panchita Gilliam, Nettie Fly, Alice Newton, and Mesdames Roland Gaines, Guy T. Newton, O. A. Fly, P. L. Crain, H. F. King, Newell Woolls and Clarence Van Fleet.

How Firestone Has Reduced the Cost of Tire Service

Size	Jan. 1921 Prices	Jan. 1922 Prices	Reduction
30 x 3 Fabric	$18.75	$ 9.85	47%
30 x 3 1/2 "	22.50	11.65	48%
30 x 3 1/2 Cord	35.75	17.50	51%
32 x 4 "	56.55	32.40	43%
33 x 4 1/2 "	67.00	42.85	36%
33 x 5 "	81.50	52.15	36%

HOW the cost of building quality tires has been brought down to the lowest level in history was explained by H. S. Firestone, President of the Company, to the stockholders at the annual meeting on December 15, 1921.

1. All inventories and commitments at or below the market.
2. Increased manufacturing efficiency and volume production reduced factory overhead 58%.
3. Selling costs reduced 38%.

Mr. Firestone stated, "This reduction in prices is made possible by our unusually advantageous buying facilities, and the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of our 100% stockholding organization.

"Due credit must be given to Firestone dealers who are selling Firestone tires on a smaller margin of profit. This brings every Firestone saving direct to the car-owner."

The saving through first cost plus the saving through high mileage doubles Firestone economy and is daily adding new fame to the Firestone principle of service—

Watch the little folks speed home for Kellogg's Corn Flakes

It's great to see child-enthusiasm for Kellogg's; great to see every one in the family enjoy their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor! To sit down before a heaping bowlful of these cheery, oven-browned "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" and some milk or cream—and fresh fruit, if it's handy—is just about the very last word in appetizing appeal! And, your good taste will prove that!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes ought to be superior—they are the original Corn Flakes! Kellogg's are never tough or leathery; never hard to eat; never a disappointment!

Be certain to get Kellogg's—the kind in the RED and GREEN package—because none are genuine without the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Toasted Corn Flakes!

Don't forget, KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes are made by the folks who gave you the JUNGLELAND Moving Pictures. Coupon inside every package of KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes explains how you can obtain another copy of JUNGLELAND.

The Oldest Man in the World

Just part of a skull, two molar teeth and a thigh bone! Pieced together they made—what? One of the most perplexing mysteries in the study of human history. Were these the remains of an ape-like man who lived 500,000 years ago? Scientists believe that they were; they call him the "Dawn Man," and out of the record embedded in the rocks they have reconstructed the conditions of his life. How he killed his food and tore the raw flesh from the bones; how he married and fought and died! How little by little he clawed and clubbed his way up to mastery over the beasts. It is a fascinating, gripping story, but it is only one of a thousand stories that stir your blood in this greatest book of modern times.

WORK.

Work—the inspirational touchstone from which all achievement springs. Work—the center of Divine gravity from which radiates all joy, goodness, intelligence and greatness—the foundation stone on which is built the courage, strength and ability that has carried all great leaders to their pinnacles of success and achievement.

Work—the sunshine of happiness that illuminates the faces of all great souls, and gives them the magnetic attraction of their winning personalities.

Work—hard and continuous, is the mental and physical exercise of our God-given powers which Divine Intelligence has, in His great wisdom, ordained that we shall use or lose.

The unused muscles of the human anatomy soon become paralyzed, while the mind, without a definite and worthy task, is but rich soil for seeds of evil, that rapidly develop into weeds of disagreeable disposition, petty meanness, and from these we reap a harvest of crime, insanity and debauchery.

Work—the Divine purifier of the corrupt and rotten cess-pool of human indolence.

Work—the Divine restorer of the paralyzed, weak and indolent human body.

In the primer of the human race the first lesson taught by the God who gave us birth was the lesson of work.

"Six days shalt thou work, and on the seventh shalt thou rest."—Exodus 23:12.

"In all labor there is profit."—Proverbs 15:23.

Listen, ye saddened parasites who occupy easy chairs of idleness, while ye look upon the workers of the world and scoff at the laborers who furnish the playthings for your listless hours: Are you greater than the Creator, who blew into your indolent soul the breath of life? If you are not, then get down from your high chairs of indolence and salute the first honest worker you meet, and fall upon your knees and beg forgiveness of your Creator for not using the Divine and creative genius which He blew into your soul with the breath of life.

Every hour of sorrow, every fear of danger, every weakness of the human will, must vanish before the magic influence of creative, well-done work.

To admit that you are a child of sorrow is equivalent to admitting that you are a victim of self-imposed idleness. Never admit it, but with a smile of joy upon your face, and the sparkle of determination in your eye, go forth to the accomplishment of some creative task, and the God of Hosts will place upon you the crown of a master-mind, and appoint you a leader of His children in the higher and nobler tasks of creative work.

A Genius is but a master of hard work. Our great captains of industry, leading financiers and statesmen are but hard workers, who have brought the accomplishment of large tasks down to a science.

Become a master of hard work and the great wilderness of lost hopes that lies behind you will change in the future to a bright and ever-broadening path of Opportunity, which you may possess and travel upward into happiness and success.—S. E. J. Cox, in "Oils and Industries."

Early Times in Bandera.

Mrs. Chas. Montague is one of the pioneer mothers of Bandera, and relates many interesting things that happened in this section in the early days.

Mrs. Montague's brother, Captain John T. Lytle, established the family Keystone ranch. During the early days before the advent of railroads great herds of cattle were driven up the trail to northern markets. Captain Lytle became one of the largest drivers, and sent thousands of cattle over the old Chrischolt trail. Before the days of the trail driving, cowmen had to send their herds to Rockport, New Orleans and other southern markets. Buyers often visited the Lytle home in Medina county and brought with them large amounts of money, usually in gold coin, with which to pay for the herds they bought. Mrs. Montague's mother was generally entrusted with the keeping of this money, which often amounted to several thousand dollars, and she served as sort of banker or paymaster for the traders. She knew many of the prominent cattlemen of those early days, who were often guests at her father's home. Those days were full of thrills and excitement, for Indians were troublesome and kept the settlers in a state of uncertainty as to what would next happen. Mrs. Montague relates an incident that shows some of the inconveniences and dangers of those days. A man named Charles Scheidmantel, at the Mitchell Crossing, had sustained a broken leg, and as the nearest doctor lived on a ranch eight miles away, Dr. Downs, Bladen Mitchell volunteered to go after the doctor. The doctor had suffered a stroke of paralysis a short time before, but consented to go to the patient and do what he could for him, and was accordingly conveyed in a hack to the bedside of Scheidmantel, his son and Mr. Mitchell accompanying him on the trip. While on the way the three men were attacked by Indians, but succeeded in fighting them off and getting to Mitchell Crossing. Bladen Mitchell was wounded by a poisoned arrow in this fight, and but for the prompt treatment of Dr. Downs probably would have died there. He made partial recovery, however, and was for many years afterwards sheriff of Bandera county, his death occurring in 1890, from the effects of the old arrow wound, it is said.

IF LYING HAD NEVER BEEN INVENTED.

"Oh, my dear, do let me look at your new dress. Well, if it isn't the worst-looking thing I ever saw in my life!"

"So sorry, but we won't be able to come to dinner on Thursday. You have such perfectly terrible food."

"How charming of you to remember my birthday! But why in heaven's name didn't you give me something decent?"

"And this is your little boy that I've been hearing so much about! Stupid little fellow, isn't he?"

"I've thought of you so often, and I've been meaning to run in and see you for I don't know how long. But fortunately, I have always been able to find something more attractive to do."

"I was simply thrilled to hear your husband has bought a new car. He can't possibly afford it, you know."

"Now do come out and see us some time soon. We might just as well have you and get it over with."

"Yes, do let's sit out this dance. Anything is better than dancing with you."

"It was so good of you to give me your milliner's name and address. I wanted to make sure of it, so that I would never go near the place."

"I'm awfully anxious to see the house since you redecorated it. Good Lord, what frightful taste you have, haven't you?"—Life.
